SCHOOL EXCHANGE British students in Korea

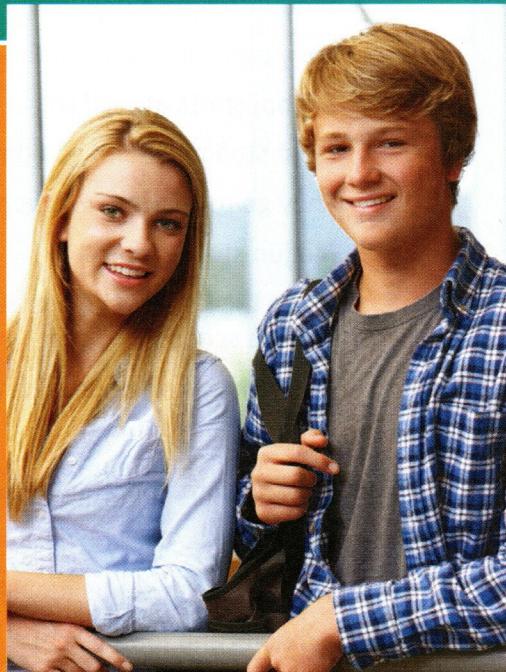

School starts early today for Candy and Terry. They are from London in England, but this week they are at school in South Korea. They are part of a school exchange to investigate the differences between education in England and South Korea.

In South Korea, students wear a uniform and uniform rules are very strict. The main subjects are maths, Korean and English. Korean students also study science, technology, history and ethics. They don't spend much time on art, music, drama, dance or PE. School starts at 7.50 am and finishes at 4.00 pm, but most students don't go home after school. They go to a library or to a hagwon. Hagwons are private schools and they close at 10.00 pm.

Terry is at Minjun's house. Minjun studies hard. He goes to school in the morning and then he goes to a hagwon. When the hagwon closes at 10.00, he goes back to school and studies in the library. Minjun's school is open until midnight! He says, 'I study about 15 hours a day and sleep 6 hours a night.'

Candy is at Jiyu's home. Jiyu is a very good student and helps Candy with her homework. School in South Korea is very difficult for Candy. She says, 'I'm not good at science or maths. My favourite subjects are music and drama and these subjects aren't important in this school!'

Life at FC Barcelona's home for young players

A school of football and values

FC Barcelona's new residence is located in the south of Barcelona, Spain. It is a very modern building and it is the home of many young football players. Past football players from La Masía, the old building, include Lionel Messi, Andrés Iniesta and Xavi Hernández.

What is life like for boys at this residence? Martin, a 13-year-old boy, answers our questions.

Do you get up early?

Yes, we do. We get up at 6.45 am and tidy our room. We have breakfast at 7.00 am and go to school.

Do you go to school by bus?

Yes, we do. We have classes from 8.00 am to 2.00 pm. Then we come back and have lunch at 2.15 pm.

Do you train after lunch?

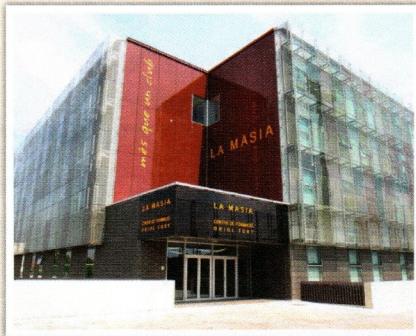

No, we don't. After lunch, we have some free time. Then we do our homework from 4.00 pm to 6.00 pm. We have extra classes with private tutors if we need help. We train in the evening from 7.00 pm to 8.45 pm.

And then?

We have a shower and we have dinner at 9.30 pm. After dinner, we go to the playroom. We watch TV, connect to the Internet or play games. We go to bed at 10.30 pm.

Is football the most important aspect of your life?

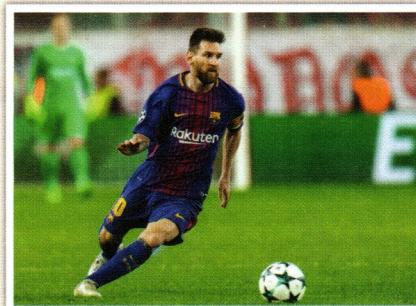

No, it isn't. Football is important but values are important too. We learn to be good people and respect others. We also learn that school work is important. Some boys never become professional football players. We all need a good education to go to university or find a job in the future.
